

Colorado Family Medicine Rural Training Programs

Colorado Family Medicine Rural Training Programs	Alamosa RTP (Alamosa, CO)	Sterling RTP (Sterling, CO)	Wray RTP (Wray, CO)
Population	9,845	13,103	2,295
Number of Residents Per Program	3/3/3	2/2/2	1/1/1
Core Residency Program	Southern Colorado Family Medicine Residency	North Colorado Family Medicine Residency	North Colorado Family Medicine Residency
Program Highlights	*Clinic with integrated behavioral health, dental, pharmacy, Coumadin and physical therapy *Primary care and specialty clinics with direct access to the hospital campus *Longitudinal curriculum allowing you to work along all specialties for 2 years *Multicultural community; Alamosa awarded "Best Small Town Cultural Scene" by USA Today *Training for multiple procedures to include GYN, biopsies, cyst/lipoma removal, ultrasounds, colonoscopies	*Full-spectrum program, *Perfect for future rural or under-resourced setting *Longitudinal curriculum *Training in many procedures including OB w/ C-sections, colonoscopies/EGDs, OB ultrasound, GYN procedures, *POCUS (butterfly US given to Sterling residents), MSK *Robust inpatient medicine, OB, ER, and outpatient experiences *Nearly all graduates have gone to practice in rural areas!	*Mature program, established in 1992 *Full-spectrum program, *Ideal training for a future rural setting *Longitudinal curriculum *Training in many procedures including OB w/ C-sections, colonoscopies/EGDs, OB ultrasound, GYN procedures, POCUS (butterfly US given to Wray residents), MSK/fracture management *Robust rural inpatient, ER, and outpatient experiences *100% of graduates have gone to practice in rural areas!
Residency Program Faculty Openings

Colorado Family Medicine Rural Training Programs

Additional information can be found on www.cofmr.org